Generation 1:

A friend of mine suggested me to try a new method of studying for my new book, The Mystery of the Sacred Heart. I took a different route as opposed to trying all the old methods. This is a good starting point. It shows how I can understand all these things with my own

Generation 2:

A friend of mine suggested me to try something a bit more exotic. It's so much more than I had expected, and it's one of the best books I have ever read. I am looking for a different travel book about travel and culture.

Generation 3:

A friend of mine suggested me to try this book for my father, and I loved it. I read it and wrote this, too. The plot is very good, except for the last verse in "Woe to the World" it was more like a book like the one I saw
